INFORMATION SHEETS/CONTRACT OUTLINES

Cast Insurance

The film or TV cast insurance covers consequential losses as a result of interferences or interruptions to the corresponding productions.

Reimbursed are the additional costs which are incurred through the failure of actors, directors or camera operators who are important for the production as a result of illness, accident or death. In case of termination of production due to failure, the production costs incurred to date or production costs spent in vain and those, which still have to be paid from contractual obligations.

The insurance policy holder has the possibility to insure all persons who are of major importance for executing the film project and the absence of whom during shooting can lead to delays or standstill, against these failures.

Of essential significance in this sector are also the co-insured costs to minimize damages, which can be incurred through changes in planning, weekend or night work, rewriting of the screenplay etc.

In special cases it is also possible to insure animals against these risks of failure.

The film cast insurance is also especially important in case of film productions and TV series, with conclusion of a completion bond it is even essential

INFORMATION SHEET

Extra Expense Insurance

Whereas the cast insurance protects the producers against damages suffered through persons, this is the cover of a similar type for impairments to production through property damages to props and/or technical equipment. Destroyed scenery, costumes damaged in transit, the loss or theft of technical equipment or the burning of a selected motif also lead to interruptions, delays, changes in planning, etc.

Whereas in the case of the cast insurance a total termination is possible (e.g. death of an actor who cannot be replaced), this form of total damages is not imaginable with the extra expense insurance, as all property damages can be remedied with the corresponding time requirement. Thus, it is customary to agree a maximum damage limit.

Covered are principally all essential risks which can have an effect on the items used for producing the respective film project. – The insurance cover can however also be limited to selected risks and/or items.

INFORMATION SHEET

Image, Sound and Data Media Insurance - Negative and Videotape

This insurance covers the production and processing risks which have an effect on the used material - negative, video, MAZ etc. and in fact from beginning until the making of the last copy or delivery of the final product - and if necessary, even earlier or longer. Here it is of no significance whether it concerns film, TV series, a documentary and advertising spot or cartoon productions.

The material used when producing a film (negative and/or MAZ) represents the production costs. If this material is damaged, no matter for what reason, it costs the producer money again to restore this. As the production processes on negative material or MAZ vary considerably in terms of risk potential, the premiums also differ accordingly.

Damages to the material can essentially arise in the camera, in transit, in the film lab and in the post production and indeed both in the video as well as sound field. Thus, the period of cover goes far beyond the actual shooting time.

Reimbursed are the restoration costs, which are incurred through damages to the film material as a result of camera, transport, copying damages, etc., and damages in the mechanical and electronic cut or by deleting the video tape.

Various forms of policies were developed for these sectors so that all requirements of the insurance policy holders can be handled accordingly.

INFORMATION SHEET

Props, Sets and Wardrobe Insurance

The insurance as "All Risk" property damage cover includes the risks, which exist during the film and TV productions through damage or loss of props.

The prop – usually the object appearing in the picture – is primarily rented or borrowed and thus especially worthy of insurance. As the producer does not normally know the values of the props he has rented (he merely pays a rental fee), the sum insured is not based on the replacement value, but on a first-risk sum, up to which the insurance company is liable for insured property damages. Props can be works of art, antique furniture, but also costumes and uniforms, as well as decorations, animals or plants.

Should total production or replacement value be available (e.g. especially produced scenery) then insurance cover can also be granted on this basis. A limited cover is also possible if only selected risks are to fall under the insurance cover.

The insurance cover is designed individually through special clauses for certain areas of props.

INFORMATION SHEET

Third Party Liability Insurance

Despite due care and attention no production is fully protected against damages, which third parties cause in the hectic life of the shooting. These can be personal injury as well as property damages. This risk is especially high in case of outdoor takes or in rented premises. The Third Party Liability Insurance which is especially coordinated to these requirements covers such claims owing to statutory liability provisions with contents under private law; however it also deals with the defence of unjustified claims.

This cover includes insurance cover both for the production risk of the film as well as for the other operational liability.

Essential extensions to cover are effected through the special terms and conditions which are available. In addition, the policy can be designed to take into account the structural conditions at the production companies.

With the same variety of layouts it is also possible to offer cover for organisers of concerts, congresses etc. through the Deutsche FilmversicherungsGemeinschaft.

INFORMATION SHEET

Miscellaneous Equipment Insurance

In this case, not just the film producer can insure his whole technical equipment against all risks, but also the owner of studio equipment as well as the appliance leasing company.

The Miscellaneous Equipment Insurance covers here the risk of damage or loss of technical items, which are used in the production of film and TV.

These include in particular:

Film and TV cameras including cassettes, lens, exposure meter, cable and other accessories.

Sound equipment including audio tape machines, microphones, tripods, cable, cases etc.

Film light such as spotlights, daylight lamps, control systems, etc.

Studio equipment including studio cameras for film and TV with all accessories and cutting tables, electronic cutting places, sound recording appliances, dubbing and trick systems.

This special insurance – primarily concluded on the replacement value – is offered depending on the circumstances and appliance pool as insurance with single declaration or flat rate basis.

Coordinated to the interests of the insurance policy holders there is both project-based, as well as annual cover.

INFORMATION SHEET

Production Cash and Credit Insurance

In case of outdoor takes – particularly when a lot of extras cast are used – the production often requires cash on site. The cash in hand insurance protects the producers against loss of cash, cheques, etc. as a result of theft, burglary theft and fire.

Here too it is possible to adapt the cover to the respective production circumstances.

The possibilities of the production company are taken into account as far as possible with the storage regulations. All means of payment can be insured.

INFORMATION SHEET

Accident Insurance

This accident insurance protects against the consequences of accidents which the persons involved can suffer during the engagement.

Owing to contractual agreements or with foreigners owing to the non-availability of protection through the trade association it is possible for the producer to insure the circle of persons chosen by him against accidents.

The special feature of this special cover is that it is possible to provide cover according to the respective engagement on a short-term basis and coordinate to the respective activity (staff, actors, actresses, stuntmen and stuntwomen).

Besides the customary cover for the event of death or invalidity it is also possible to receive insurance cover for medical treatment, hospital or general per diem allowance or also return transport costs.
